

The brilliant McIntyre-Dern wedding of Tuesday evening, the informar a ception by Mrs. Edwin F. Holmes on Friday afternoon and the Blauvelt concert on Thursday evening, which was a social as well as musical event, served to break the monotony of the Lenten season, which has settled upon society in earnest. There was even a dearth of smaller events which often brighten the dull weeks of Lent, and society is experiencing a decided full. Little is promised for the coming week; in fact, not much will be doing until after Easter. One continues to hear rumors of engagements and early weddings, and a number of Salt Lake's fair daughters are to be brides of the spring and early Drehmer-Bower Nuptials.

The marriage of Miss Pearl Drehmer and Dr. A. S. Bower, which was solemnized yesterday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilhart, will be a great surprise to their many Salt Lake friends. The marriage ceremony took place shortly after 7 o'clock and was performed by Rev. Elmer I. Goshen. Only the relatives were present and the couple left immediately after for the East.

The bride wore a very handsome traveling suit of brown and a large brown hat to match. Dr. and Mrs.

Bower will be at home to their friends after April 15th at 344 East First South.

Mrs. Holmes Receives.

Mrs. Edwin F. Holmes was at home to her friends on Friday afternoon from 2 until 6. Her callers were received in the new art gallery, where a rare collaces, which Mrs. Holmes has collected from all parts of the world, were placed on exhibition. Beautiful and numerous were the dainty laces shown from Malta, Chefoo, China, Denmark, Switzer ta, Chefoo, China, Denmark, Switzer-land, Scotland, Ireland and many other

Brilliant Home Wedding.

Last Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, the marriage of Miss June McIntyre and Frederick Dorn took place. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. McIntyre. The magnificent home on B was most beautiful with its stately paims, the festonings of plu-mosa and the flowers which were used with lavish hand. As one entered the large reception half a charming picture was presented. The stained-glass window at the head of the broad staircase was banked with palms and calla lilies On either side the stairs was a row of palms, while the banisters were en twined with plumosa, thickly studded with white carnations. Suspended from an arch of plumosa directly over the space at the foot of the broad staircase was a magnificent wedding bell of calla lilles, white carnations and smilax, the arch from which it was suspended be ing studded with white carnations.
At the appointed hour, 8:30 o'clock, an orchestra stationed on the landing upstairs played the wedding march fron Lohengrin, and the bridal party de-scended the stairs. First came the Rev Elmer I. Goshen of the Congregational church, who read the marriage service. Bransford, Mrs. Levis Evans, Mrs. He was followed by the groom and his Plank, Mrs. Greenwood, Mrs. Benedict best man, Frank Judge. Then came the maid of honor, Miss Bessie McIntyre, ing, M wearing the daintiest of pale blue silk Smith. gowns, made with white Valencienne and trimmed with clusters of forget-me-nots. The matron of honor, Mrs me-nots. The matron of honor, Mrs. James Chambers Dick, wearing her beautiful wedding gown of white liberty silk, came next. Both the maid of honor and the matron of honor carried immense clusters of American Reau ties. Lastly came the bride, lovely in her old-fashloned wedding gown of white silk, made princesse, with a shirred girdle effect, and an exquisite yoke of point lace. The skirt, which was made en traine, was trimmed with three old-fashioned puffings, the same trimming ornamenting the quain trimming ornamenting the quaint sleeves. A veil which extended to the hem of the gown was held in place by a sunburst of pearls and diamonds, a gift of the groom. A shower bouquet gift of the groom. A shower bouquet of lilles of the valley completed the rarely beautiful costume

At the foot of the staircase, where the ceremony was performed, the bridal party formed a semi-circle facing the than 200 guests, and a pretty pic-they made. Assisting in receiving the guests were Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. John Dern parents of the groom. Miss Helen Gillespie presided at the punch bowl in the library and essisting in the drawing. library, and assisting in the drawing-room were the Misses Stella McIntyre, Clara Lawson, Stella and Ivy Dix.

Mr. and Mrs. Dern left on the mid-night train for the coast, where they will spend the next two months visiting points of interests. They will return about May 1st to make their home in Salt Lake, where both are so favorably known in social circles.

The decorations in the other rooms of he beautiful home were in of the reception hall was banked with calla Illies, two large vases of white carnations occupying the space on either side, and a great cluster of American Beauties on the mantel shelf. In the music-room and the drawing-room where the elegant gifts were displayed. the decorations were in red and pink, red carnations in the drawing-room and pink carnations and azalias in the music-room. In the library deep red carnations and tulips were seen, while in the living-room the palest of yellow tulips graced mantel and tables. The dining-room was all in green and white, save the touch of col-or in the beautiful Prosperity carnations which graced the sideboard. An oblong mound of lilles of the vailey occupied the center of the table, at either end of which stood crystal candelabra with green shades. True lovers' knots of white tulle were arranged at either end of the table, the tulle also shad ing the electric lamps. In the conser-vatory were found couches and rugs and an inviting place it was with its numerous growing plants

Baxter-Hart Wedding.

A marriage that will be of interest to many Salt Lake friends is that of Mrs. Hilda MacDonald Baxter and Ralph Hart, which took place in San Francisco. Mrs. Baxter, who is well known here, is a very charming society woman of San Francisco and Mr. Hart is an artist-architect, formerly of Chicago but who has made his home in California for several years.

For Mrs. De Camp.

A very delightful dinner party was given on Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Russel Tracy in honor of Mrs. De Camp, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. L. M. Bailey. The color scheme for the table was carried out entirely in red, American Beauty roses being the flowers used. Covers were laid for ten. The guests were Mrs. De Camp, Mr. and Mrs. Pailey. The 27th of February was cold and dark and dreary. But within the cosy little home of Mra Emily Booth all was brightness and good cheer; and the good-by number of "Historicals," showed by their presence, how little club women are affected by the state of the weather. The Review led by Miss Sara Whalen was most ably conducted and the questions were responded to in a most spirited manner, most of the members taking part in the discussion. Mrs Jennte Nelson told most charmingly of the places she will soon visit in Germany. While we wish her "fluck Auf" of the German miner, we almost envy her the good fortune which is so soon to transport her to that wonderful land of story and art. The word rictures of the Ehine as depicted by John R. Stodiard and read by Mrs. A. B. Corey fairly enthralled us all, as we followed that mystical, mastical river, from its source in the glacier fields, on down through the vine-clad bills and emerald valleys till it is finally lost in the bosom of the deep-deep sea. A charming sketch of Holdeberg read by Miss Dora Snow, completed the literary part of the programme Most delicious refreshements were served by Miss Bessie Booth, daughter of the hosters, assisted by her sinces, in-law, Mrs. Roy Booth, and Miss Bessie Child.
